CreateSpace Independent Publishing Platform. Paperback. Book Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Paperback. 210 pages. Dimensions: 8.5in. x 5.5in. x 0.5in. How can we help young people become champions of environmental ethics? The fantastic journey narrated in this formation novel (Bildungsroman) provides some stimulating input for an unusual and creative approach to the matter. In the company of the magic cat Mozot, the two protagonists Martina and Leonardo embark on an out-of-this-world journey to the Feline Hyperuranium. Like a modern-day counsellor, Mozot evokes the youngsters' potential by leading them through fantastic adventures and difficult trials, and manages to lift them from a state of sadness and pre-adolescent insecurity to one of self-awareness and serenity. Retracing the milestones of Thinking throughout History, this upward journey contributes to the two young protagonists' maturing process, while enriching their historical, artistic and philosophical culture. The book contains over 150 links to online resources, for additional insight into formative and educational topics. For this reason, the novel straddles the border between fiction and non-fiction, and is recommended for interactive use in a scholastic context. (EDUTAINMENT) The journey ends in a Feline Paradise where the cat of the philosopher Giordano Bruno, like a latter-day Virgil,...
